RE: ICLEI Membership

It has been ICLEI's great pleasure providing tools and technical assistance to help drive Pinellas County, FL's climate protection and sustainability initiatives. As you may know, ICLEI USA currently has almost 600 current local government members actively committed to achieving tangible reductions in greenhouse gas emissions and advancing sustainable development.

Per your request, as of July 26, 2011 Pinellas County's ICLEI membership has expired and Pinellas County, FL has been removed from all ICLEI member lists and is suspended from receiving membership benefits.

As the only membership association of local governments committed strictly to advancing climate protection and sustainability, ICLEI offers your jurisdiction unique opportunities to drive climate action through innovative tools, resources, and an elite network of best practice replicable implementation models. Over the past year, ICLEI has taken many strides to expand and enhance the services associated with membership, including new regional offices around the country and new online climate action planning tools. The coming years promise to bring even more opportunities and resources for local governments to achieve the long term, deep reductions in emissions that scientists are calling for.

We are truly disappointed to lose Pinellas County as part of the vibrant ICLEI Network and hope that you will reconsider your decision. If you would like to reactivate membership, please contact us and we would be happy to work with you to renew your jurisdiction's ICLEI membership.

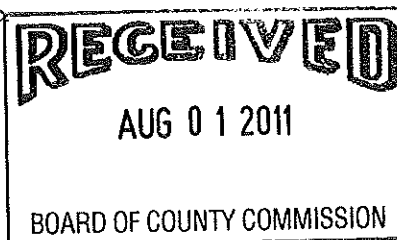

If you have any questions regarding this communication or making a dues payment, please contact me at 617.960.3420 x208 or Tracy Saxton, Administrative and Data Associate, 617-960-3412.

Sincerely,

Meleah Houseknecht
